

“Brewing from top to bottom the Hooky Way”

North Warwickshire visit Hook Norton Brewery

Where progress is measured in pints:

Some of the party lunched on very tasty platters in the centre;

and . . . before the five storey ascent & descent through the ten-stages of the process; best viewed on the brewery website through the link:

The visitors were introduced to the business and the health and safety brief by the very knowledgeable host Chris:

As the expedition concluded we returned to terra-firma to see the delivery dray returning lead by Roger with dray horses Nelson & Major and the trainee dray driver, no, not Tom, the young lady on the right.

And, at last, a sit down:

with a toast to our health and then collection of visitor glasses and any purchases for the journey home.

Until next time . . .
